race | Definition, Ideologies, Constructions, & Facts ...

A race is a grouping of humans based on shared physical or social qualities into categories generally viewed as distinct by society. The term was first used to refer to speakers of a common language and then to denote national affiliations. By the 17th century the term began to refer to physical (phenotypical) traits.

Race (human categorization) - Wikipedia

The definition of race has not been consistent throughout history, nor is it consistent today, based on people's beliefs. But generally speaking, many people today think of a race as a group of people having certain physical characteristics. And the most distinguishing physical characteristic has historically been skin color.
